

What did you learn in this assignment?

In this assignment,

I learned how to create box recommendation logic. The system checks product size and weight and finds a suitable box with low cost.

I learned how to write test cases for service logic and API endpoints. I also learned how to test valid cases, invalid cases and error cases.

I also learned how to use AI for help, but I understood that I need to check the AI output and make changes according to my project.

this assignment helped me improve my Django, API development and testing skills.
